

The "DO NOT CALL" list should remain as is. You can't make an exception for one group and not expect every other group to want an exception also. I have been a participant on the list since its inception and am very pleased with the results. Don't change the rules now.